

DADPL (Driftless Area Defensive Pistol League) – Rules

The following rules will apply to all 2020-2021 DADPL matches. They may be modified to meet the requirements of individual matches. If modifications are required they will be promulgated on a per match basis. Some general and specific League requirements were stated in the “invitation” to shooters.” Those statements are of a League” nature. They may also be Match specific and are made part of and applicable to this “Rules” document.

The league director will collect entry fees, maintain league financial accounting, maintain team designations and score records.
The league director is also responsible for the posting of match results to the appropriate bulletin board and the PRSA website.

All others must remain in the ready room area. Spectators may view through the range window. Range doors must be closed during firing. The air handling system must be operating.
 - a. All shooters and spectators must exhibit proper match decorum. Loud activities, music, hollering, screaming, and use of loud electronic devices, which could be distracting to the shooter and match officials, are prohibited. This is also applicable to the ready room.
2. All stages are to be fired from the Standing or Standing Crouch positions or as indicated in the "course of fire" document for each match. If not stated, the position will be at the shooters choice. Firing must be done from within the shooting box or on the mat indicated at each shooting lane.
3. All stages, may be fired beginning from the "Ready" position, (gun pointed at the floor at least 5-6 feet in front of the shooter.) unless stated otherwise in the course of fire document or match program. If so stated, the gun may be "Dawn from a Holster". If drawn from a holster, the safety must be engaged until the handgun is out and pointed toward the target. If a shooter chooses to draw from a holster, he must keep his hands in a "surrender" position until the signal to fire is given.
4. Magazine pouches or holders and speed loaders for revolvers are recommended.

5. Mechanical safeties, if the gun is so equipped, must be operable and engaged until the signal to fire has been given.
6. Handgun must be held in 1 or 2 hands only, arms outstretched, not resting against the chest. The handgun may not be supported by any part of the shooters body other than the hands. Any device or item affording the shooter and/or gun artificial support is not permitted. Exception: when firing from cover or barricade; the shooters hand, wrist or forearm may engage the barricade or cover device. The handgun itself must not be in contact with the barricade or cover device, unless it is so stated in the course of fire document. Gun/barricade contact is usually applicable and allowed when the Tactical Barricades are used.
7. 1911 style guns may be in the "cocked and locked" configuration until the signal to fire is given.
8. Revolvers are handled from the "hammer at rest" configuration. Do not use the cocked or half cock position. The first round and all subsequent rounds may be fired double action. If fired single action, the hammer shall not be cocked until the signal or command to fire has been given.
9. All firing will be started by an audible signal, such as a whistle, electronic tone or the command Fire. If time has expired and the shooter has not completed his stage(s) the RSO will issue a Cease Fire command.
10. Handguns/magazines are to be loaded with a maximum number of rounds as stated in the course of fire document or as called for by the stage being fired. A shooter may not load more rounds than called for in each stage. Doing so constitutes a procedural error and will incur penalties. A minimum number of magazines required for each stage will be listed in the course of fire document.
11. Each Shooter will be called to the firing line in succession and will complete all stages as indicated in the match program.
12. Range commands will be given by a Range Safety Officer (RSO). Failure to follow RSO commands can result in a penalty or disqualification.
13. The Range Safety Officer (RSO) will call the individual shooter to the line, briefly describe the stage and inform the shooter to prepare for the stage. He will then command "Load and Make Ready". He will then ask "Shooter Ready". After receiving the proper indication from the shooter, he will command "Standby." At the audible signal or command the shooter may begin firing the stage.
14. After the shooter completes each stage, or allotted time has expired, the RSO will signal, by whistle, tone and/or command, "Cease Fire, Unload and Show Clear". Shooter must remove the magazine, lock the action open or open the cylinder on a revolver and present the open action port or cylinder to the RSO so he may verify a safe condition. The shooter may move to the next stage when so informed, or exit the range after he has completed all stages. Upon acknowledgement of a safe condition by the RSO, the shooter may close the action and holster their handgun.
15. Any disagreements or challenges between the Shooter and target verifier will be resolved by the Range Officer(s). The use of scoring aids or plugs is limited to the Range Officer(s). There is a challenge fee of $1.00 per shot. This fee is returned if the challenge is sustained.

Targets & Scoring:

1. The target for all stages will be as described in the course of fire document.
2. The matches will be "timed" by the use of an electronic shot timer. There may be maximum time limits per stage. This is done to keep the playing field even for all shooters. The maximum times per stage are quite liberal and should eliminate any "hurry up" factor. Refer to the Course of Fire document for individual stage times.
3. Because these matches will be using multiple shooting lanes (1 through 9), all targets will be hung prior to each shooter firing. All retrieving, replacing and verifying of targets will be done by range officials at the completion of a stage or a shooters match. The shooter is allowed to view but not touch his target after firing and prior to verifying for hits. The RSO, scorer or other designated person will collect, paste or replace the targets as necessary.

Penalties:

1. The following infractions will result in immediate disqualification:
 - a. Dropping a gun and picking it up without the RSO's permission.
 - b. Any discharge that injures the shooter, range officer, scorer or anyone else.
 - c. Any errant shot into a holster.
 - d. Discharging of a round into the floor less than 6 feet down range, or into the walls or ceiling.
 - e. Consumption of alcohol or non-prescribed medication prior to or while competing in a match.
 - f. Failure to follow the instructions of the RSO after receiving one (1) warning.
2. Any shooter who is found to have more than the allotted number of rounds loaded into their magazine, will be disqualified for that stage when discovered. If this is found more than one time the shooter will be disqualified for the entire match.

3. Additional penalties may be assessed according to the infractions listed below and as stated in the course of fire document. Each penalty will be assessed as either 5 points in a scored match or 5 seconds, in a timed match – “per shot.”

The following are infractions which may result in a penalty:

- a. Misses (not hitting the scoring area of the target.)
- b. Premature Start (firing prior to the start signal or command.)
- c. Excessive Rounds Fired (firing more than the required number of rounds in each stage.)
- d. Over Time (firing after any Cease Fire signal or Command has been given.)
- e. Procedure Error (firing in any manner or time except as commanded by the RSO.)
- f. Foot Faults (firing from outside of any lanes designated shooting box or mat)
- g. Striking the “hostage” when hostage or no shoot targets are used in a match.

4. No coaching is allowed on the firing line at any time by anyone.

5. This document is subject to modification to conform to the requirements of subsequent matches.

6. A “Bonus stage” will be as described in the course of fire document. This stage will allow the competitor to recoup penalties. All hits in the scoring area of the target will afford the competitor a value of 5 seconds each, which will then be used to offset any penalties accrued during previous stages of a match. Any hits in excess of the accrued penalties will deduct 5 seconds from the shooters raw time. The maximum amount allowable for the bonus stage is 5 seconds x 6 rounds = 30 seconds.
